COMMODORE'S COMMENTS

I thought it was hard to get this done during the season, but it seems even harder now.

Coming off an exceptional sailing season culminated by an awesome season ending awards banquet, we already need to start thinking about next year. But before we start that I would like recognize some of the highlights from last year. Looking back at my notes we actually never do stop.

- WISSA international Wind Kiting event Feb 9-14 - Kevin Gratton and Friends
- Sailing Club sponsored Ice party @FDL YC Feb 21st - Dave W and Friends
- Sailing Club handled the meal for YC meeting March 3rd - Dan Thornton and friends
- First time in Memorial Day Parade Youth Sailing March 25th - Lori Bohn and Friends
- Lighthouse Regatta June 6th - Scott Baccus/Dave Kuharski/Mike Elmergreen and friends
- All Tuesday and Thursday Night series. Fun Races Wednesday night, Crew Draft, Laser Race
- Sailing Club meet the fleet Poker Run August 22nd - Dave Dochterman trophy committee
- I20 Nationals Sept 11-13 - Sally and Jack Boatman and all the Sailing Club
- Sailing Club Banquet November 7th - Marty and Rueben Witt and wives

I know this isn't the whole list and everybody wasn't recognized but what it does say is that we are a very vibrant club, and it is through all the volunteerism we are looking at a great future. I digress as Mahnke would say, now on to the future.

December 3rd meeting coincides with the Packer Game (yikes). The meeting will be at the Whealon residence: N7236 Lake Breeze Court, off of Bechaud Beach Road. This is our Holiday Meeting which will start @ 6:30 pm. Packer game starts @ 7:25 pm for anyone interested in staying to watch. Bring your favorite Holiday Treat and we will supply the rest. All are invited. Hope to see you there.

Best day of my life!

Some call it "School Sailing." Kids call it "the best day of my life!" Whatever you call it, it's a fun-filled, action-packed, sailing extravaganza that gets every 5th grader out sailing on Lake Winnebago in Oshkosh, WI. Oh – and let's not forget teaching science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) through sailing, or using sailing to teach team-building and leadership skills to kids!

According to Steve Eliassen, Director of International Youth Sailing of Oshkosh and mastermind/magician of this three-ring circus, what began eight years ago with 60 charter school students has exploded to become the largest school sailing program in the US, exposing nearly 1500 school kids to sailing every year for the past several years!

What does it look like? 80 kids arrive at the beach on a yellow bus in the morning and learn to sail by lunch time. They leave, and another 80 arrive for the afternoon. Eat, sleep and repeat for roughly two weeks in both June and September. Some kids design and build sail rigs for O'pen Bics, some fabricate their own Hobie Wave sails and some create and pilot their own life-sized solar-powered boats.

Why Oshkosh – kind of your average city in the Midwest? According to Eliassen, three things: Lake Winnebago, one of the largest inland lakes in the US that offers easy, inexpensive access and perfect sailing conditions

Bold school district leadership that sees the potential and helps make it happen. "This could happen anywhere," says Eliassen, "but it happens here in Oshkosh because our school district leadership and teachers embrace it fully and make it a defining component of being a student in Oshkosh public schools. If you are among the 10,000 public school student in Oshkosh, you sail. Period."

The incredible generosity of donors and volunteers who give everything they've got to get kids learning to sail and connecting with the remarkable, natural aquatic environment in their own back yard.

Says Eliassen, "We started this program because we believe what every sailor knows in their bones – sailing is a complete education. That everything you need to know about life, including academics, you can learn from sailing. As one of our supporters (who happens to be an MD) puts it, mastering sailing is no less an accomplishment than completing medical school." Check out their latest video!
